GIGANTIC SCHEME

NEW COMPANY CAPITALIZED AT $22,500,000.

MANY SPRINGS MEN IN DEAL

CURTIS AND HINE OF THIS CITY CONCEIVE PROJECT.

EASTERN MILLIONS INVOLVED

Company, It Is Said, Will Spend Close to $15,000,000 in Harnessing Streams and Furnishing Electric Power to Almost Entire State.

The Central Colorado Power company, with a capital of $22,500,000, the largest and most powerful concern of its kind ever organized in this country, came into legal existence yesterday, when articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state by Leonard E. Curtis, Henry Hine and Orlando B. Willcox, of Colorado Springs.

The company will build plants and generate electric power for distribution to Colorado mines, mills, railroads, pumping stations, etc., its general base of operations being in nineteen counties of the state as follows:

El Paso, Grand, Garfield, Eagle, Gilpin, Clear Creek, Boulder, Summit, Jefferson, Adams, Arapahoe, Lake, Park, Chaffee, Pitkin, Teller, Douglas, Fremont and Pueblo.

Its plans involve the construction at once of two tunnels, four and ten miles long, respectively, in the western part of the state, for the purpose of conveying the water which will furnish power for the first two mammoth plants to be established. This work alone will require an expenditure of millions of dollars and the employment of thousands of men, and it is said that the company will spend in the neighborhood of $15,000,000 in the next three years and a half or four years.

The officers of the company are: President, Myron T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio, Cleveland; vice presidents, J. R. McKee and S. Z. Mitchell, of New York; and Leonard E. Curtis and Henry Hine, of Colorado Springs; secretary and treasurer, Leonard E. Curtis; general manager, Curtis and Hine.

The Board of Directors.

The board of directors for the first year will be: D. H. Moffat, Charles M. MacNeill, J. A. Hayes, Leonard E. Curtis, Henry Hine, Thomas F. Walsh, all of Colorado; the Hon. Myron T. Herrick, Cleveland; J. R. McKee, S. Z. Mitchell, E. R. Coffin, William P. Bonbright, all of New York; George L. Peabody and Copley Amory, of Boston.

The general offices of the company are to be in Colorado Springs, and the immense work will be directed from this city.

The capital stock is composed of 225,000 shares, at $100 per share. It is divided into 75,000 shares of preferred, and 150,000 shares of common stock.

No additional shares of preferred stock will be issued, except by consent of the owners of a majority of the preferred stock already outstanding, according to the articles of incorporation. The articles also state that the preferred stock is entitled to dividends at the rate of 6 per cent, payable annually, semiannually or quarterly, according to the decision of the directors. These dividends are cumulative after January 1, 1910, and after this date dividends may be declared on common stock, when the 6 per cent dividends shall have been paid for the corresponding period, or set aside for payment.

The great interest taken in the gigantic enterprise by financiers both in Colorado and the east is demonstrated by the fact that in less than thirty days the $9,000,000 in stock already offered has been taken up, and the amount extensively oversubscribed. William P. Bonbright & Co., of Colorado Springs, are the local financial agents of the company, and have taken a prominent part in the preliminaries of its financial organization.

Planned by Springs Men.

The incorporation of the company yesterday is the culmination of a movement to put into practical operation the plans that Leonard E. Curtis and Henry Hine, who make up the firm of Curtis & Hine, of Colorado Springs, have been developing for several years. Many years ago they saw the possibilities of developing current from the water power in the state, and applied themselves persistently to working out the problem to a point where it could be made practical. One of the firm's first and largest venture, which proved remarkably successful, was the establishment of the Guanajuato Power company, at Guanajuato, Mexico.

For a long time engineers have worked under their direction looking into the possibilities of harnessing the forces which lie in the mountain streams, and turning the power into electric current in sufficient quantities for distribution throughout the state. That they have succeeded is proved by the examination of the power [illegible] to be not than [illegible] Bishop [illegible] has been completed, and it remains only to carry out the plans.

May Absorb Small Concerns.

While the main purpose of the company is to generate and distribute power in a general way to mines, mills, railways and manufactories of all kinds throughout the state, it is probable that the company will eventually absorb all of the small plants that are now supplying current to cities and many districts, as it is believed that with its immense operating facilities current can be generated at such a price that the smaller concerns will be unable to compete.

A statement, covering every detail of the project, was yesterday given out by Messrs. Curtis and Hine. It follows:

Curtis and Hine Talk.

The Central Colorado Power company, which has just been incorporated under the laws of the state of Colorado, has an authorized bond issue of $30,000,000, and a stock capitalization of $7,500,000 of preferred stock, and $15,000,000 of common. The first issue of bonds consists of $6,000,000, which have already been sold, and the proceeds of these bonds will be used to build the first power plants, which will have an aggregate capacity of 30,000 horsepower.

More than six years ago we realized the possibility of large water power and electrical transmission developments in central Colorado and commenced a systematic examination of the entire situation. We believed that such developments would not only be of great benefit to the industries of the state, but that they would form a profitable investment for a large amount of capital.

Eastern Capitalists in Deal.

We have had associated with us in this preliminary work strong financial people in the east, and have, with their assistance, acquired, by purchase and otherwise, the water rights, reservoir sites, etc., which form the basis of the present undertaking.

The investigation and acquisition of these water rights and other properties has involved an enormous amount of engineering work, and the expenditure of a very large sum of money. The core of the situation consists of water rights on the Grand river. It is proposed to construct two large plants on this river, one at Gore canon and one at Glenwood. In addition to these rights on the Grand river, other very important water rights and properties have been secured with a view to development later.

Having acquired these rights and properties, the situation was presented to financial interests in the east, and it was decided to organize the Central Colorado Power company. In order to provide funds for the first development, which will consist of plants sufficient for 30,000 horsepower, $9,000,000 of bonds of the company were offered for sale. The sale of these bonds was intrusted to three banking houses, Messrs. Lee Higginson & Co. of Boston, the Electric Bond and Share company of New York and Messrs. William P. Bonbright and Co.

Bond Issue Oversubscribed.

Some thirty days ago the subscription to these bonds was opened with the result that the issue has been very largely oversubscribed. These subscriptions are from very strong financial interests in Colorado, New York, Boston, Cleveland and other places in the east, and in London and Paris. The subscriptions from strong Colorado people alone amount to about $1,000,000.

The board of directors for the company for the first year will be as follows: D. H. Moffat, Charles M. MacNeill, J. A. Hayes, Leonard E. Curtis, Henry Hine, Thomas F. Walsh, all of Colorado; Hon. Myron T. Herrick, Cleveland, O.; J. R. McKee, S. Z. Mitchell, E. R. Coffin, William P. Bonbright, all of New York; George L. Peabody and Copley Amory of Boston.

Local Men Among Officers.

The officers of the company will be as follows:

Hon. Myron T. Herrick, Cleveland, O., president; J. R. McKee, New York; S. Z. Mitchell, New York; Leonard E. Curtis, Colorado Springs, and Henry Hine, Colorado Springs, vice presidents; Leonard E. Curtis, secretary and treasurer; Curtis & Hine, Colorado Springs, general managers.

The organization has been perfected, and active work is now in progress on the plants at Gore canon and Glenwood Springs.

The organization will include Mr. George B. Tripp, formerly manager of the Colorado Springs Electric company, and R. T. Hanscom, electrical engineer, formerly at the head of the Power and Mining department of the General Electric company.

The Company's Plans.

The first developments which it is proposed to complete will have a capacity of 30,000-horsepower, and it is expected that at least half of this will be in operation in from fifteen to eighteen months. The present plans contemplate further developments as rapidly as the market for power demands them, which will have an aggregate capacity of 50,000 additional horsepower. The plans for this work are already completed, and the company has financial backing which will enable it to construct these plants as rapidly as the market for power demands them. In addition to these properties, from which we can generate 80,000-horsepower, we have acquired various other water rights which will permit of the development of at least 80,000-horsepower more, but the time when these developments will be undertaken will of course depend upon the demand for power in the parts of the state it is proposed to reach by the transmission lines of the company. We can say, however, that whenever power is needed and can be sold at prices which will be advantageous to the users and at the same time render a fair return on the investment of the company, these developments will be made.

Wonderful Possibilities.

The first plants to be built are in the center of a territory of 30,000 square miles which can readily be supplied from the two plants, with transmission lines of moderate length. This territory includes Denver, Boulder, Gilpin and Clear Creek counties, Leadville, Cripple Creek, and in fact all the mining districts, cities and towns from Grand Junction on the west to Denver on the east and Wyoming state line on the north to Pueblo on the south.

As in a very large part of this district the cost of making power by steam must necessarily always be high, we believe that the supply to these places of large amounts of power at prices much below the cost of steam power will be of very great benefit to them all. The policy of the company will be broad and liberal. We fully believe from our experience with similar plants elsewhere, that the introduction of electric power, at a moderate price, with all of its advantages of simplicity and flexibility, will be a very potent agent in assisting in the development of enterprises of all kinds, and we propose to fix rates that will encourage

HIS OWN ASSASSIN

RUSSIAN GENERAL MAKES FAKE ATTEMPT ON LIFE.

THEN KILLS HIS ACCOMPLICE

FALSE PLANNED TO SAVE HIS POLITICAL LIFE.

BOMB WAS A HARMLESS TOY

Rheinbot Was About to Be Discharged From Office as Prefect of Police and Resorted to Desperate Means to Retrieve Falling Fortunes.

MOSCOW, Nov. 13.—The police have identified the man who yesterday threw a bomb at General Rheinbot, the prefect of police, as a brother of Vladimir Mazury, the leader of the flying group of terrorists who was captured here September 12 and executed December 14 for the murder of Colonel Von Leshinskoff, of the secret police.

The third brother, Sergei Mazury, was executed for participation in the St. Petersburg customs robbery, and a fourth is now in prison here for membership in the revolution organization. General Rheinbot defends his action in shooting the terrorist, after the latter had been seized by two of the policemen, on the ground that Mazury was making a desperate struggle to escape and succeeded in drawing a revolver and firing a shot at the prefect of police.

Alleged Plot Is Fake.

MOSCOW, Nov. 13.—General Rheinbot has received hundreds of messages, including personal communications from Emperor Nicholas through Premier Stolypin, and a dispatch from Count Witte congratulating him upon his escape. In spite of these congratulations which give color to the official version of the attempt on the prefect's life, there are ugly rumors in Moscow that General Rheinbot was himself the author of the plot against his own life. He is thought to have schemed to retrieve his sinking fortune and to stave off retirement, it having been decided upon in official circles to relieve him from duty.

Made Bomb Himself.

These suspicious rumors are supported by certain circumstantial evidence. General Rheinbot at the time the attempt on his life was made was following an unusual path on foot through narrow alleys. The bomb exploded in a manner described as highly suspicious. Pieces picked up on the spot show it to have been nothing more than an imitation bomb, without effective covering and perfectly harmless. It failed to explode until it had rolled to the opposite side of the street and to a safe distance from the prefect. The original theory was that the bomb did not go off because the dynamite in it was frozen. Now the police explain that it was a fuse bomb and the social revolutionists discarded such missiles long ago.

Shot His Accomplice.

On account of the indignation aroused at the statement that General Rheinbot shot down his assailant while he was being held by two policemen, a statement is issued tonight to the effect that the bomb thrower, when he was killed by the general, was struggling to escape and that he also fired at the prefect, but the revolver which he is alleged to have used has not been found. It is declared tonight that the man did not have a revolver, that he fired at nobody and that he had been promised that he would be allowed to escape.

General Rheinbot, however, is alleged to have shot him to get rid of him.

HIGHER PAY FOR EMPLOYES

Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Salt Lake Railways Will Increase Wages.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Rumors of a general raise in wages on all three of the transcontinental railroads—the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Salt Lake roads, were verified to some extent here today by President Ripley of the Santa Fe. President Ripley stated that various western railroads had sent representatives to a meeting to be held in this city next Saturday at which the claim of the several unions of railroad employes that are entitled to higher wages will be given consideration.

"There will be some increase in wages on all transcontinental railroads," said Mr. Ripley, "but the various unions will not get all they are asking for. I can not state now just what departments are likely to receive increased pay or how much. But the railroads will grant something soon."

WILL OPEN UP MINING REGION

Senator Clark to Build 75 Miles of Road for Tintic.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 13.—The Tribune tomorrow will say that Senator W. A. Clark is soon to announce the projection of a branch railroad from Tintic Junction to the mines of Deep Creek in western Utah. Construction will commence not later than January 1, next, and the road will be in operation within a year thereafter. It will be 75 miles long and will be a feeder to the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake. [illegible]

JEWS HONOR LATE JOHN HAY

Root Will Attend Hebrew Memorial Ceremony on December 2.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Secretary Root has accepted an invitation to attend the dedication of a window to the late John Hay in the synagogue of Kenesseth Israel congregation, Philadelphia, on December 2. Oscar Straus, who is to succeed Secretary Hay as secretary of commerce and labor, also will attend the dedicatory exercises.

Dr. Krauskopf, pastor of the congregation, said today that the perpetuation of the memory of the late Secretary Hay by the installation of a window in a Jewish church is a decided innovation and will be the first instance where a non-Jew has been honored by the installation of any sort of memorial in a Jewish house of worship. This exception is made because of Mr. Hay's service in behalf of the unfortunate Jews at Kishinieff, Russia, and in recognition of his efforts to prevent Jews from being discriminated against in any way.

$500 REWARD OFFERED

MAYOR SAYS POISONING OF DOGS MUST STOP.

Health Commissioner Hanford Writes Letter in Which He Says Childrens' Lives Are Endangered.

Determined to put a stop to the wholesale poisoning of dogs in this city, which has grown to alarming proportions recently, Mayor H. C. Hall, in response to a letter from Health Commissioner P. O. Hanford, yesterday announced that he would give a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty party or parties.

The city officials are resolved to take stringent action against any offender who is caught in the practice, not only because of the wanton cruelty to dogs but because of the great danger which menaces small children playing in the parks, who are likely to eat the poisoned food.

Following is the letter sent to Mayor Hall by Health Commissioner Hanford:

Colorado Springs, Nov. 12, 1906.

Hon. H. C. Hall, Mayor City of Colorado Springs, City.

Sir—It has been reported to my office that there has occurred in the vicinity of North park, in this city, the poisoning of some six or seven dogs, resulting in every instance but one in the death of the animal. I am also informed by the force in my office that the poisoning of dogs does not seem to be confined to this locality, but that the practice seems to be somewhat prevalent, and that dogs have been poisoned in other localities in the city. I write, at this time, to call your attention to the grave danger to which the continuance of this practice will subject the inhabitants of this city. The practice of putting out poison in public places must be dealt with with a ready and severe punishment, but the punishment should be much more certain and severe when the poison is displayed in a public park which is an open playground for the children of this city, and when the children may, through their very ignorance, put a portion of the poison in their mouths with the possibility of fatal results. I would urge that the council offer an increased reward for the punishment of those who put out poison.

Respectfully,
PETER OLIVER HANFORD,
Health Commissioner.

DIE TO SAVE CAPTAIN

TWO POLICEMEN KILLED ON STREET BY NEGRO.

Couple of Colored Men Also Mortally Wounded—Murderer Pursued by Bloodhounds—Still at Large.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 13.—Fighting bravely in defense of their police captain, Patrolmen Charles Blackstock and William Bailey of this city were shot to death on South Main street at 11:30 o'clock tonight by a negro, who also killed one negro and fatally wounded another. The murderer gave his name as William Harris of Charlotte, N. C., a desperado for whom a large reward has been standing for some time. Prior to the death of the two officers a negro restaurant keeper named Benjamin Allison was shot and killed by Harris without provocation. Another negro named Tom Nelli was mortally wounded, he, too, being shot before the officers took a hand in the melee.

Harris started on his tour from a negro house on Valley street. He fired into two houses as he made his way to South Main street. At Eagle street he fired at and wounded Allison. On South Main street the deperado encountered Tom Nelli and fired at him. Police Captain Page and Officers Bailey and Blackstock rushed from police headquarters [illegible] who met the negro in the center of Main street, received a bullet in the arm from the negro's rifle. Page called upon Blackstock to fire, but before that officer could do so, Blackstock fell dead with a bullet in the chest. Bailey fired twice without hitting, and the negro then shot and killed Bailey.

The negro escaped. A general alarm was turned in by the chief of police to call out the militia companies and several armed posses quickly formed to pursue the murderer.

At 2:30 this morning the Southern railway dispatched a special train to Tryon, forty miles away, to secure bloodhounds to aid in running down the negro, who, at last reports had taken refuge in the Biltmore estate.

FOR DEEP TUNNEL

DRAINAGE COMPANY LIKELY TO REORGANIZE.

OLD SCHEME MAY BE DROPPED

MINE OWNERS NOW SAID TO FAVOR LOWER BORE.

$1,000,000 WILL BE RAISED

East Side Mines Will Contribute, and Amounts to Be Subscribed Will Be Reapportioned—Figures Not Made Public—Mine Owners Meet.

A proposed reversion from the intermediate to the deep drainage tunnel for the Cripple Creek district, the organization of a second and larger tunnel company to absorb the recently incorporated Cripple Creek Drainage Tunnel company, the reapportionment of assessments on the various mining companies and the universal support of all the large mining companies, including those antagonistic to the drainage systems heretofore projected, seems probable as a result of a meeting of Cripple Creek mine owners in this city Monday afternoon.

Although the intermediate tunnel has not been [illegible] the sentiment of the majority appears to be in favor of the deep drainage tunnel, which was strongly recommended by Engineer D. W. Brunton, who drew plans for both bores, and which has been contended for during the last few months by John T. Milliken, of the Golden Cycle, and the east side mine owners. While nothing definite was determined, it is highly probable that the deep tunnel will be selected.

Figures Not Made Public.

The contracts which have been signed by four or five of the mining company officials, pledging certain amounts toward the construction of the intermediate tunnel, expire tomorrow. It is proposed to organize a new tunnel company, which will absorb the old company, and at the same time take in those mine owners who have held back from the project. In this connection a reapportionment of the respective amounts to be paid by the various companies was discussed at the meeting Monday. New schedules were made out, but the details are withheld at the request of the members. F. G. Peck, of the executive committee, last night said that the publication of the exact figures at this time would interfere with the work of financing the tunnel project. The mine owners are determined to get together on the work of constructing a deep bore for the camp, and desire to have matters definitely arranged before making full details public.

Will Cost $1,000,000.

It is known, however, that the new proposed tunnel will involve the expenditure of approximately $1,000,000, instead of $700,000, which was to be raised to drive the intermediate bore. At the meeting Monday afternoon the sum of $675,000 was practically pledged by a number of the organizations represented. In addition to the companies already on record as supporting the tunnel, the Golden Cycle, it is said, agreed to contribute liberally. The importance of the absorption of the company representing the Milliken interests can not be overestimated. Its co-operation completes the practically universal consolidation of all the large mines of the district for the furtherance of the plan, especially in view of the fact that the Giddings-Lennox interests are also said to favor the new plan.

The mills, smelters and railroads, it is reported, can be depended upon for a sum approximating $200,000, and of the remaining $425,000 to be realized in making up the required $1,000,000 other mining companies will be approached. The Stratton estate was represented at the recent conference, and it is thought probable that a subscription will be secured from the estate, in view of its vast holdings in the district, as well as from the Giddings-Lennox interests, owning the Strong mine, and the Ophir company management.

A NOTE OF WARNING

ODELL SAYS RECENT CAMPAIGN WAS ASININE.

Republicans Must Make Up Ground Lost Elsewhere by Gains in Hughes Carried Whole New York Ticket.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—B. B. Odell, former governor and ex-chairman of the state Republican committee, said today that the management of the Republican state campaign was "the most asinine" that he ever knew. The whole state ticket, he said, might just as well have been elected. As the result stands it looks like a Democratic victory and leaves the Republican party in bad shape with a national campaign coming on. The Republicans he declared, made no campaign at all but put it all on Mr. Hughes' shoulders.

"I heard absolutely nothing about the state campaign up my way," said Mr. Odell. "We did not know there was a headquarters down here. I was not notified of anything that was going on.

"My advice was never asked once, [illegible] of my friends all over the state had the same experience. Even when Mr. Hughes was touring my county, I was not notified or consulted. I wasn't informed of the smallest details."

Continuing, Mr. Odell said: "The people of this state have always resented the interference of a president of the United States, in their local elections. They have done so since the days of Dewitt Clinton. I think that the interference of President Roosevelt did more harm than good.

Only a Personal Fight.

"I do not wish to appear in the role of a general critic of the conduct of the campaign, but so far as I can make out, there was no real campaign. No one was made of the record of the Republican party. It was all a case of personalities between the candidates for governor."

Mr. Odell said that Mr. Hearst was greatly strengthened as a political factor by his campaign and that while he might not be elected president, he was now a man to be reckoned with in the future. He said that a combination of Bryan and Hearst would be a hard one for the Republicans to beat.

"I believe," said Mr. Odell, "that with intelligent management the entire Republican state ticket could have been elected. I am not knocking, but I am very much concerned for the future of the Republican party.

"I believe that by the exercise of mutual forbearance and consideration the Republican party can be put in shape to make a successful campaign in 1908."

TO TIDE OVER PANICS

BANKS WILL HAVE SPECIAL FUND ESTABLISHED.

Liabilities of Failing Institutions to Be Paid From Emergency Moneys by Tax on Credit Issues.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—For more than five hours today the currency committees of the American banking association and the New York Chamber of Commerce discussed the formulation of principles which are to form the basis of the legislation for the issue of emergency currency in times of financial stringency. These principles will be recommended to congress for enactment into law at the coming session. Although the views expressed were not by any means harmonious at all times, some of the members say the discussion showed an evident disposition to reach common ground, upon which a united appeal can be made to congress for the legislation desired. Good progress was made in the work of the committee, and when adjournment was taken, most of the principles which are to govern the plans to be submitted by the bankers had been determined upon.

The discussion developed a sentiment in favor of a currency to be issued on the general credit of a bank desiring to emit emergency currency during periods of financial stress, as is done in the case of various European countries. The alternative of this proposition—that of segregation of the assets of the bank as a special security for these issues—was voted down. The tax on these general credit issues, it is proposed, shall form a guarantee fund to be placed in the treasury and to be used to meet the liabilities of any bank which fails. The question of what tax to place on the general credit issues was referred to a subcommittee.

The opinion of the majority of bankers, as expressed today, was that these credit notes are not to have any preference over any of the other obligations of the bank issuing them, but are simply to be a lien as in the case of all other banknote issues. The scheme also contemplates the daily redemption of these issues through the instrumentality of the clearing houses in the cities in which the banks issuing them be located.

AMEND INDIAN TERRITORY LAW

General Conditions There Are Being Investigated by a Committee of Senators.

VINITA, I. T., Nov. 13.—The committee of senators appointed at the last session of congress to investigate and report on the general conditions in Indian Territory, reached here today and held hearings this afternoon and tonight. The subjects for consideration are remedial legislation and modifications of existing rules and regulations of the interior department that would permit a more general sale and rental of alloted tribal lands, the levying of taxes under statehood, the maintenance of a better public school system, the disposal of the segregated coal and asphalt lands in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nation and the sale and rental of the surface of these segregated lands for commercial purposes. A delegation of full-blood Choctaws asked for the removal of restrictions from the surplus lands of full bloods. The committee will continue the hearing tomorrow.

INSANITY ANNULS CONTRACT

One-Third of Clauses Recommended by Committee Adopted—Twenty-seven States Represented and Both Protestant and Catholic Clergy Present.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The National Congress on Uniform Divorce Law today adopted about one-third of the proposed uniform bill as drafted by the committees appointed at the meeting held in Washington nine months ago. The portions adopted include seven causes under which annullment of marriage may be obtained and six causes for absolute divorce.

Delegates from 27 states and representatives of all Protestant denominations who attended the International Conference on Marriage, together with a Catholic prelate, Bishop Shonley of North Dakota, attended the sessions, which were presided over by Governor Pennypacker.

SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER,
Governor of Pennsylvania, Who Is Presiding as Chairman of the National Congress on Uniform Divorce Laws.

The important changes in the bill are the striking out of all references to proceedings and practice leaving the questions for the various legislative bodies to pass upon. The committee decided that so long as open hearings are held and the laws provide for direct service on the respondent and fix a punishment for collusion, the measure need not conform to any fixed rule.

Six Causes for Divorce.

The causes for which divorce can be granted are, infidelity, felony, bigamy, desertion, habitual drunkenness and intolerable cruelty, and in the discussion of the various sections there was little opposition to any of these provisions, but in the list of causes for annullment of marriage opposition was presented against several.

Governor Pennypacker took exception to the clause which provides that if either party, unknown to the other was insane at the time of marriage, it should be annulled. The governor held that the clause not only gave the sane party the right to begin suit, but also to commit the lunatic. This would give a commission appointed by the court a right to begin a suit in the name of an insane party, even if the person not insane did not want divorce. He argued that marriage was a personal relation and a third person had no rights in the contract.

C. L. Munson, of Williamsport, Pa., clashed with the governor on the subject. Mr. Munson said the clause was the only protection for an insane person against a designing man or woman. He cited a case where relatives and friends were helpless to protect an imbecile who had married a designing woman. The clause was adopted.

School Girl Marriage.

There was also some discussion to the clause annulling the marriage of a girl under the age of 16 and a youth under 18.

Ernest Morton, of Williamsport, held that a girl under 18 [illegible] capable of [illegible] contract and [illegible] the law of his [illegible] when the [illegible] of [illegible] and a girl under 18 [illegible] business and investment of capital in mining, milling, traction, lighting, manufactories and other enterprises. We realize that the ultimate growth and prosperity of our company will depend on the growth and prosperity of the districts to which we propose to supply power, and our policy, therefore, will be one to encourage development.

A Gigantic Enterprise.

We can think of nothing, except possibly the railroads, of greater general public benefit to the industries of Colorado than a large supply of moderate-priced electric power, and it seems to us that the establishment of a constructive enterprise of this kind where the profits derived from it are shared between the company furnishing power and those using it, should commend itself to the public.

[illegible] magnitude, and construction will continue over a period of a number of years. At Gore canon it will be necessary to construct a tunnel four miles long for conveying the water from the intake in the river to the power house. The water conveyed through this tunnel will be dropped through pressure lines to the wheels with a head of about 850 feet. At Glenwood, similar construction will be employed, but the tunnel there will be about ten miles long, and the head obtainable 400 feet. Immense power houses of the most modern and up-to-date construction will be built, and transmission lines constructed to convey the energy from the power houses to the various points of use at a pressure of probably 30,000 volts. The present plans contemplate the construction of about 400 miles of such lines. These lines will consist of steel towers and copper cables, and will be built to withstand the severe conditions of climate and weather prevailing throughout the mountainous regions, so as to insure continuity of service.

The construction of the long tunnels, which will be 12 by 15 feet in size, is, of course, a very expensive undertaking, but, when once completed, they will be permanent, and the plants will not be subject to the interruptions common to plants of this character where wooden flumes and open canals are used.

Railroads May Use Electricity.

Taken as a whole, this is the largest undertaking of the kind ever started, and if the plants are properly constructed and managed, it should prove profitable to the company and of inestimable value to the state as a whole. It is prophesied by those who are making a most careful study of the subject that it will not be long before the trunk lines of railroads will be operated over the continental divide by electric power, and the establishment of these great power plants will undoubtedly bring this about more quickly than if the railroads had to depend upon making their own power.

It seems to us that Colorado is to be congratulated upon an enterprise of this character, which brings such a vast amount of outside capital into the state to be spent in a way which cannot help being of great benefit to the state at large.

Buckman Talks.

I am glad to have an opportunity of saying something about this enterprise in which my firm and some of our best friends have for so long been interested. For, although today marks the beginning of the legal existence of the Central Colorado Power company, the enterprise itself has already reached a very respectable age. It is fully six years since Mr. Curtis and Mr. Hine began to look forward to it as something to be realized if possible in the future. During the intervening years these possibilities have gone far towards becoming realities, and during the last two years in particular all the resources of ability and experience of these men of conspicuous success in their chosen field of endeavor, with the assistance of many who had joined with them, have been engaged in the work of giving concrete form to the enterprise. Every step has been most carefully taken; engineers of highest standing and wide experience have checked the plans and estimates, and their findings in turn have been checked by other sets of engineers.

Men of Wealth Interested.

From the start the enterprise has strongly appealed to the men of wealth and successful experience in such undertakings to whose attention it has been brought, and it has never failed to receive ample backing. This was further illustrated in the conspicuous success attending the recent offering of $8,000,000 of the company's bonds, which offering was heavily oversubscribed in a very short time. Our firm, as one of the three banking houses engaged in placing this block of securities, consider Central Colorado Power the most important enterprise with which we have ever been connected, and we naturally take an especial interest in it as a home enterprise, destined to play a part of vast importance in the development of Colorado's resources and industries.

Hayes Gives Interview.

It is true that I am interested in the Central Colorado Power company, and have been very glad to serve as one of the directors. I regard the enterprise that this company has in hand as one of far-reaching importance, and second only to the building of the railroads in the development of the natural resources of Colorado. The experience of other places has shown that the introduction of electrical power in the way proposed by this company greatly stimulates all existing industries, such as mining, milling, manufacturing, traction, lighting and irrigation. This last is very important because there are large tracts of land, within the area the Central Colorado company proposes to cover, that can be reclaimed by pumping by electric power, in the same manner as has been done on a large scale in southern California.

I know that the policy of the company will be broad and liberal in developing the entire region it proposes to cover.

Scheme Originated Here.

It ought to be a matter of pride for us that this great enterprise originated with our own citizens, and has been carried through on their initiative. Mr. Leonard E. Curtis and Mr. Henry Hine, who were well known here as having been engaged in this line for a long time, conceived the plan, and it has been carried through under their direction. They, with the help of some of their eastern friends, secured the water rights and other properties necessary, and the entire enterprise has been financed on their report. I know this because I was in New York at the time when the subscriptions were taken, and it was upon their reputation, and the confidence capitalists had in it, and their experience and ability in the management of such enterprises that the undertaking was financed.

They have already demonstrated their capacity for making a success of such undertakings in originating and carrying through the power enterprise of the Guanajuato Power and Electric company in Mexico, which has been very successful, and in other similar undertakings.

Phenomenal Results.

The financing of this enterprise I consider something phenomenal. At a time when financial conditions could not be worse for placing new securities of this kind, unless at a time of actual panic, the first $8,000,000 of bonds have, as I am informed, been very largely oversubscribed. I am informed that Governor Herrick states that subscriptions already received aggregate more than $13,000,000. This certainly shows the confidence of great financial interests in the enterprise, and I, myself, have taken as much as I can afford of the securities and have advised my friends to do the same.

The organization of the company has been perfected under the direction of Messrs. Curtis and Hine, and they have succeeded in securing a remarkably able engineering and executive force for constructing and operating the plants. The money having been raised and a fine organization perfected, the work of constructing the plants has already begun and will be pushed vigorously.

Able Man at Helm.

I consider the company fortunate in [illegible] Herrick of Ohio, as president.

I consider the board a very strong one and representing very powerful financial interests in Colorado, as well as in the east. It seems to me also very significant that such large amounts of securities have been taken in Colorado, as this shows the confidence of Colorado people in the enterprise.

It is a matter of satisfaction to me to learn that our own home banking house of William P. Bonbright & Company, which co-operates with Lee, Higginson & Company of Boston, and the Electric Bond & Share Company of New York, in placing the first offering of securities were fully as successful as their associates in this large undertaking.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Societies and Clubs

The Woman's Literary club meets Saturday afternoon, November 17, with Mrs. Thomas C. Pease, 14 East Caramillo street. Mrs. W. K. Argo will give a paper on "Swiss Independence, Erie Canal, War of 1812." In the year's study on Contemporary history, Mrs. C. E. Emery will give a review of Evangeline.

The East Side W. C. T. U. meets at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon with Mrs. Seitz, 710 East Cache la Poudre street. Those who have Cottage Home donations are asked to bring them.

The Woman's Democratic club meets at 7:30 o'clock this evening at 327 South Tejon street.

Sections three and four of the Ladies' Aid society of the First M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. A. H. Kampf, 1210 North Weber street.

There will be a special communication of Tejon lodge No. 104, A. F. & A. M., this evening at 7:30 o'clock for work in the F. C. degree. Visitors invited.

A musicale will be given by the Woman's club in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Maude McFerran Price is the chairman of the committee in charge of the program.

POLICE CHIEF IS ENJOINED

Must Not Interfere With Democratic Club—Temporary Writ to Be Heard Tomorrow.

Chief of Police Alex Adams was yesterday served with the temporary writ of injunction granted by Judge J. W. Shearer of the district court, restraining the chief from interfering with the management of the Democratic club. The order of Judge Shearer, which was issued Saturday night, was filed in the district clerk's office yesterday. Deputy Sheriff Harry Ashworth served the writ on Chief Adams.

Filed with the order, when the writ was issued, was a notice by Attorney S. H. Kinsley, representing the Democratic club, to the effect that a motion will be made to have the temporary writ heard on its merits in the district court at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Since Judge Shearer will be absent tomorrow, the writ, if brought up, will be argued before another judge of this district.

In the application for the writ by the Democratic club it is stated that "great and irreparable injury" will be done the club should Chief Adams carry out his intention of closing that organization.

The bond of $500 accompanying the petition for a writ was signed by James F. Burns and Howard Masterson.

It is learned that the anti-Doyle directors of the club intend to elect Doyle, Starrett and Jones at the directors' meeting on November 20 and to elect James F. Burns president in place of W. E. Doyle. Friends of the three minority directors claim that the necessary two-thirds majority of the board of directors can not be prevailed upon to vote for the expulsion of the trio. The Burns faction, however, are confident that they will rout the Doyle element and consummate their present plans.

DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Brushed Scales from Face Like Powder—Under Physicians Six Months But Grew Worse — Some Said Face Would Be Marked for Life Now Without a Blemish.

CUTICURA REMEDIES WORK WONDERS.

"As I was a sufferer with eczema I write to tell you what a great friend I found in Cuticura Remedies. In six months I had tried three doctors, but did not get any better. It was on my body and on my feet so thick that I could hardly put a pin on me without touching eczema. My face was [illegible], my eyelashes came out, and the [illegible] got in my eye. I then went to a skin doctor. He told me what I was [illegible] for it, and I told him Cuticura. He said that was a very good thing, but that he thought that my face would be marked for life. But Cuticura did its work and my face is now as clear as it ever was.

"My brother-in-law told me about the wonderful Cuticura remedies. I took his advice and got the Ointment, Soap and Resolvent. I washed with the Cuticura Soap, warmed a little, applied the Ointment, and took Cuticura Resolvent as directed. In a short time my face began to get better, and when I had taken one bottle of Resolvent I could brush the scales off my face like a powder. When I had taken four bottles my face was as clear as ever.

"I told all my friends about my remarkable cure. I feel so thankful I want everybody far and wide to know what Cuticura can do. It is a sure cure for eczema. (Signed) Mrs. Emma White, 641 Cherrier Place, Camden, N. J., April 26, 1906."

Complete treatment consisting of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent (Pills), price $5.00 per month, from any druggist, or from Potter Drug & Chemical Corporation, Sole Proprietors, Boston, Mass. Mailed free, Cuticura Book, 32 pages, on skin and scalp diseases.

LEAVES BEING HAULED AWAY

The city health department yesterday commenced hauling away the dead leaves which had been raked together by residents from their premises. Approximately 250 telephone calls were received Monday and yesterday, notifying the department where piles of leaves could be found.

It is urged that notification be sent today to the health department, 'phone Main 156, in order that the work of removing the leaves may be systematized, by all those who have not previously communicated with the office. It is proposed to increase the force of men and wagons now in use, should the number of telephone orders warrant.

HIGH VALUES FOUND IN SHALE

Dr. J. F. Willard of Colorado City Thinks He Has Made a Valuable Discovery.

A new method of treating ore that is mixed with shale, which gives sufficient gold values to warrant its treatment, has just been discovered by Dr. J. F. Willard, city physician of Colorado City, according to Dr. Willard's own statement. As immense quantities of shale are found under the surface in this vicinity, Dr. Willard's new discovery may reveal the fact that this ore contains gold.

About seven years ago Dr. Willard made his first experiments with shale, using specimens brought from a great shale field in Trego county, Kan. By a certain method which he employed in roasting the ore, he reduced it to ashes, and a few days ago sent a sample of the ashes to the Standard mill in Colorado City to be assayed. The sample was returned to him marked "valuable." Dr. Willard says that no one has ever been able to secure results from gold-bearing shale which would justify its treatment.

Dr. Willard has as yet made no plans for the use of his discovery. Other experiments will be made. From two pounds of ore used at first Dr. Willard secured four ounces of ashes, which, when assayed, were marked "valuable." The cost of treating ore under the new method is said to be comparatively small.

In the vicinity of Colorado Springs and Colorado City are large fields of shale. This formation is usually found just above the sandstone formation, and often has a depth of 2,000 feet. Dr. Willard believes that the shale in this region contains gold. Acting upon this opinion, further experiments will be made.

The condition of Frank Morgan, the 11-year-old son of Postmaster J. F. Morgan of Colorado City who had both legs amputated on October 27 as the result of being run over by a Short Line switch train in the Standard mill yards, continues to improve. The attending physician, Dr. A. A. Winternitz, said last night that the boy will recover.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

"THE MAN ON THE BOX" AT THE OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

Max Figman in "The Man on the Box" will be the attraction at the Opera house this evening.

Mr. Figman is one of the most finished actors on the American stage and brings a comedy that is the dramatization of one of the most popular novels of late production and which has the indorsement of New York city, as a play, for a run of over three hundred performances. Mr. Figman will be supported by an exceptionally clever company and will have all the advantages of a complete scenic production even down to the minute details of furniture and draperies.

Mr. Figman has made a happy selection in "The Man on the Box" for his first starring tour. It is not only an established success, but the title role fits him like a glove and it is doubtful if there is another actor in this country who can do the character so much justice. "The Man on the Box" was dramatized by Grace Livingston Furniss from Harold MacGrath's book of the same name and constructed into an hilarious comedy with a pretty love story and strong heart interest. It relates how Lieutenant Worburton has seen a pretty girl on the steamer while returning from Europe. How when he gets home in Washington he plans a practical joke on his sister by taking the coachman's place on the family carriage with the intent of driving home recklessly then jumping down and impressing a hearty kiss on his sister's cheek. He carries out the program, but gets the carriage calls mixed at the last moment and drives off with two young ladies who happen to be the object of his affections and a friend, and the result of the joke is that he spends the night in a police cell. With this foundation the dramatist has constructed a play without a dull moment in it and abounding in clever dialogue and brilliant dramatic situations.

HAD A CLOSE CALL.

"A dangerous surgical operation, involving the removal of a malignant ulcer, as large as my hand, from my daughter's hip, was prevented by the application of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says A. C. Stickel of Milletts, W. Va. "Persistent use of the Salve completely cured it." Cures Cuts, Burns and Injuries. 25c at the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

"THE DEVIL'S AUCTION"

Manager Yale's claim that the "Devil's Auction" is the oldest in name yet the newest in point of novelty, can well be substantiated in this the 25th edition of this famous spectacle, as everything is new from the time the curtain rises on the first act until it is rung down on the beautiful transformation scene "Amor" (Love) at the close of the performance. Every act, novelty and feature is new as well as the scenery, properties, etc. In fact not one old feature is retained and the forgoing public have a treat in store for them on next Monday evening, when this big company will appear at the Opera house.

"THE MAID AND THE MUMMY"

Before "The Maid and the Mummy," which is to be the attraction at the Opera house next Saturday evening, was presented for the first time on any stage, $50,000 was spent by its managers on costumes, scenery, mechanical and electrical effects and properties. With one exception, there has been no parallel in the history of the American stage to this expenditure. However, the wisdom of the managers was apparent for "The Maid and the Mummy" played to $425,000 in fifty weeks last season and the royalties alone have been enough to make the author, Richard Carle, independently rich. So great was the success of this merry musical melange in this city that it has been secured for a return engagement this season. The piece returns with practically the same cast as last season, but with a handsomer, shapelier, and livelier chorus than ever. Two new songs have been added, and some new jokes and dances interpolated by Mr. Carle.

OFFICIAL COUNT MADE

RESULTS DIFFER LITTLE FROM ESTIMATES.

Caswell Leads State Ticket and Law the County Ticket.—Owen Beats Musser 320 Votes.

The official canvass of the election returns from each of the sixty precincts in El Paso county has been practically completed, the results differing little from the estimates made shortly after election. Returns for all the State offices, except those of attorney general, superintendent of instruction and regents of the university of Colorado, have been received and are being compiled, for all county offices except constables and justices of the peace.

Caswell, candidate for supreme judge, received the largest vote, excepting Woodside, for county surveyor, who had practically no opposition. Caswell received 5,917 votes, defeating Seeds, the strongest Democratic candidate, by 2,055 votes. Gabbert ran well despite the fight made against him, receiving a plurality over Seeds of 1,462 votes.

Buchtel ran behind his ticket, his plurality of 1,788 over Adams being almost 500 less than the plurality of Harper, lieutenant governor, over Ammons. Buchtel polled 5,309 votes, 21 less than Caswell.

Sheafor led the judicial ticket with 5,651 votes. Morris was second with 5,297, while Owen, with 4,311, defeated Musser, Democrat, by only 326 votes.

Law, candidate for coroner to succeed himself, led the county ticket with 5,756 votes. Schreiber, county assessor, was a close second with only 19 votes less. Mrs. Stotz, county superintendent of schools, was low with 5,282 votes, having a plurality of 645 votes over Hufford.

The official returns, so far as tabulated, are as follows:

SECRET PRACTICE FOR TIGERS

Coach Richards Takes Precaution Against Spies.

The Colorado College team is under [illegible] of Mr. Richards at Washburn field in preparation for the big game next Saturday at Denver with the Golden School of Mines eleven for the championship of the state. The precaution that the plays, with which Coach Richards expects to accomplish the defeat of the Miners, do not fall into hostile hands, is being taken, and the gates of the field are closed to all but college students. The team is getting its machine into perfect working order and if no accident occurs a victory is predicted over the Miners. Much enthusiasm in the practices is being shown by both the first and second eleven, and harmony and a spirit of mutual assistance exist between all the players.

FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing most of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, long standing ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flushes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

A DANGEROUS RIVAL COMING

Terrors Play the Ex-Champion Centennial Team.

One of the best and hardest games on the schedule of the local High school is anticipated next Saturday at Washburn field when Captain Morrell's eleven faces the 1904 champion Centennial high school team of Pueblo, the Terrors, most dangerous rival for the honors of the southern division of the interscholastic league. Coach Richards is out with the boys in their daily practices, remedying their weaknesses and putting snap and ginger in their work. The team is minus the services of its star halfback, Whitaker, who was injured in a scrimmage a day or two ago. Smith is making good at the new position.

DEFACING SCENERY.

A GOOD many years ago some wise man not known to Fame wrote a bit of doggerel to the effect that

"Fools names and monkeys faces
Are always found in public places."

There is not much poetry in the couplet but it contains a world of truth and common sense. People who are possessed by a mania for seeing their name carved, painted or scratched on rocks, fences, walls, etc., offer point in justification to the example of George Washington, who is said to have cut his name under the arch of the Natural Bridge in Virginia. But if Washington actually did this the kindest thing to be said of him is that it was done when he was very young and just a bit foolish. At any rate his example is hardly one to be commended to the present generation for it does not follow that every aspiring worthy who puts his name in a public place will become another George Washington.

Considering the very large number of public places in this vicinity with their wide expanses of smooth rock surface offering unparalleled opportunities for publicity, the only wonder is that Colorado Springs has not suffered more from pests of this sort. About three years ago a traveler from Nebraska who wished to leave in Colorado Springs a permanent testimonial to his modesty and good taste painted his name in large letters on one of the big rocks at the Gateway to the Garden of the Gods. But the incident did not turn out exactly as he expected. The Gazette brought the matter to public notice, and the Nebraska gentleman speedily got a good deal more publicity than he desired. The Chamber of Commerce wrote him a letter inviting him to remove the inscription at once and offering as the alternative a warm experience in the courts. Almost by return mail came a check for $20 to pay the cost of removing his name.

This incident was widely commented on at the time by papers throughout the country and the action taken by the Chamber of Commerce was strongly commended. The Boston Transcript remarked that Colorado Springs has set an example to the world in proceeding so promptly and effectively against the vandals whose chief delight is found in mutilating objects of natural beauty.

If there is any resident of Colorado Springs or any tourist who fondly imagines that he can follow with impunity the example of the Nebraska man, we strongly advise him to keep his identity closely veiled, for trouble will confront him as surely as he is found out. The defacement of scenery can not and will not be tolerated. The law provides a way to punish such vandalism and it will be enforced rigidly at all times. In addition to the work of the city and county governments General Palmer has spent many thousands of dollars building roads and bridle paths in order to make the beauties of nature more accessible to the people. All of these places are open to the public without charge and to put the case mildly it is a poor evidence of appreciation for any individual to abuse the privilege by defacing the attractions which Nature has provided for the enjoyment of all.

PROFESSOR BURGESS ON THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

A DISPATCH from Germany states that thousands of copies of Professor John W. Burgess address in which is the self-styled personal representative of President Roosevelt he was pleased to vindicate the Monroe Doctrine are being circulated broadcast presumably at the instigation of the German government. The Kaiser and other German imperialists are of course delighted with the utterance, and though William is too well informed as to American opinion to accept Professor Burgess' view as in any sense official, he is too shrewd to neglect the opportunity it affords for further one of his pet schemes.

It will be remembered that Professor Burgess of Columbia University, was sent to Germany to lecture on American history at the University of Berlin as the first "Roosevelt professor." The idea of having a German professor lecture on German history at an American university and an American professor lecture on American history at a German university was suggested by the Kaiser as a means of promoting international amity, but the part made by Professor Burgess is to be taken as an indication of what is to follow it will prove something entirely different. For, after stating that President Roosevelt "was pleased to receive me as an ambassador of peace, friendship and civilization," he announced that the high protective tariff and the Monroe Doctrine are "almost obsolete" and "nearly senseless."

The assertion regarding the tariff policy is of no importance, but President Roosevelt's feelings when he heard of the reference to the Monroe Doctrine can well be imagined. One of the Washington correspondents says that his annoyance "could not be expressed in polite language"—a thing easy to believe for the country never produced a stauncher defender of the Monroe policy than Mr. Roosevelt. The significance of the incident lies in the semi-official position of the speaker and in the further fact that the address delivered in a German university before a company of which the Kaiser was a member—the man who is the one ruler in Europe suspected of a real desire to set the Monroe Doctrine at naught.

Thus far the German colonial system has been a practical failure, though it is vast in area and has cost the government enormous sums of money. In spite of all official influence, German emigrants will not go to the colonies, preferring to come to the United States, the land of opportunity. It has long been a dream of the Kaiser's to make use of this love of his people for straying from home by directing them to some place where they could found a colony which, in time, could be annexed to the empire. Certain parts of Brazil and Argentina seemed the most favorable field, and already they have a considerable German population, but the Monroe Doctrine is an insurmountable barrier to the attainment of the Kaiser's ultimate ambition. Nothing would please him better than its formal renunciation by our Government but he knows that this will never come about.

Professor Burgess' assertions represent nothing more than his own opinion but it is unfortunate that his position as a lecturer on history appointed by the President should give them an additional weight when they are exactly contrary to the opinions held by an overwhelming majority of the American people. The Kaiser is not likely to be led astray by them but if he really is in doubt as to how the Monroe Doctrine is regarded over here he can easily learn by consulting any American paper.

"MRS. DISCOURAGED."

WE don't blame the author of the letter headed "A Woman's Economies" published in the Open Parliament column yesterday, for signing herself "Mrs. Discouraged." Before her marriage, she says, she earned her own living and spent $100 a year for her clothing. But that was before marriage. Now she has "the average sum of $12 a year to dress on." When she goes to town on a shopping trip she usually has $2 to spend and it must be made to do the work of $25. If, in the baking of a cake she tries to practice economies somebody unnamed (it must be a brute of a husband) remarks "Your cake is not as good as Mrs. So-and-So's."

Having neglected to cultivate the Ella Wheeler Wilcox style of journalism we are not quite prepared to give advice in this case. Heart-to-heart talks with the perplexed, the disconsolate and the socially ambitious are beyond our depth. But this doesn't prevent us sympathizing with "Mrs. Discouraged," and everybody else similarly situated. Dressing oneself "on the average sum of $12 a year" certainly is not an undertaking to be contemplated with joy. But even so we don't believe that "Mrs. Discouraged" would be justified in giving way to utter discouragement. Nothing is so bad that it couldn't be worse. Of course it is hard to do twenty-five dollars worth of shopping with a lone two-dollar bill but there are lots of people who have to stretch their money even farther.

Still more encouragement is to be found in the cake proposition. Suppose instead of merely having to use skim milk instead of cream in her cake and reducing the number of eggs "Mrs. Discouraged" couldn't afford to make cake at all? The ability to have cake on the table isn't necessarily a sign of opulence but it is a sign that the wolf isn't howling outside the door. As between skimping on cake and skimping on bread we believe that most people would prefer the former and there is nothing in "Mrs. Discouraged's" letter to suggest that the bread supply is visibly diminished.

When the Paris mob was howling in the streets a little over a century ago a Bourbon princess asked the reason of their demonstration, and on being told that they wanted bread she inquired, "Why don't you give it to them?" "But there is none to give them, Your Highness." "Well then give them cake," replied this scion of a soon-to-be-extinguished royalty. We suggest that "Mrs. Discouraged" reverse the procedure and put the individual who objects to her cake on a diet of bread exclusively. Then maybe the time will come when he will be only too glad to get an occasional wedge of angel food even if it is of the economical kind.

JULIET CONTRADICTED.

From the Boston Transcript.

That there is more in names than Juliet in her haste and passion would allow is shown in a little town on Cape Cod where the local lumber dealer is named Lumbert, the milkman is Mr. Waterman, the fish merchant is Mr. Pinney, the minister is Mr. Paradis, and the provision dealer is Mr. Bacon.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

From the New York Sun.

According to a telegram from Berlin to the London Morning Post, the German government is distributing thousands of copies of the speech lately made by Professor Burgess in which he referred disparagingly to the Monroe doctrine. The money so expended will be worse than wasted. The speech was mischievous, because it tended to foster in Germans the delusion that they may find in Latin America a field for colonization and conquest. As a matter of fact, the Monroe doctrine was never so firmly rooted in the minds of the American people or so resolutely upheld by their government as it is today.

THIS HAPPENED IN SWIFT (?) NEW YORK.

From the New York Sun.

The confiding manner of people in street cars is most amusing. As they are thrown from side to side they—in an effort to retain a trace of steady balance—plant their hands in a friendly fashion on the chest and shoulders of the seated passengers. A woman who had clambered into a Fifth avenue stage just as it was starting and finding it impossible to walk steadily yet with a firm determination to reach the seat by the change box—braced herself by putting a hand on the knee of those two seated next the door and then on the next two and so on to the end, almost walking on her hands, as it were, and smiling sweetly up into the face of each passenger as she leaned her weight upon them. Every one smiled back in a most friendly manner, which was just as well because one never can tell when one may need a prop oneself. Which would in the nice old days have been turned into a proverb. Then as leans will be leaned on and then as is leaned on can some day lean." Too long proverb-making has been a lost art. This also is just as well.

THE CASE OF MISS HINDS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

[illegible] Hinds, and so many willful misrepresentations in connection with the case I feel it my duty as well as privilege to inform the people of Colorado Springs in regard to the facts in this case. In the first place Miss Hinds is a young lady nearly eighteen years instead of fifteen as was stated in the paper. Second place the paper stated she had been in hiding for the past six month. Not less than one month ago her mother made the trip to the Springs to see her daughter. Furthermore, Florence worked in Peltes store after school hours. She was known to all her friends as well as her mother in regard to her whereabouts. During the two years that I have known Miss Florence she being in our private home from time to time, I have never known her to be out of place.

She is a true Christian girl of unusual character. She has many warm friends. Florence is a poor girl struggling through this world endeavoring to earn her own living and to get an education. 'Tis true she attends the Assembly and Sunday school, and for this reason her mother who is very much opposed to Divine Healing and doctrines taught in the Assembly, seeks to destroy the life of this pure chaste girl (God pity such mothers) in order to get revenge through those whom she does not love especially the members of the Assembly. It would be well to inform the public that the detectives who removed her from my home in the absence of my husband possessed a very low type of manhood—their language unbecoming to that of a gentleman. I'm surprised that Chief Adams is good friend of his as he would tolerate any such men on his force.

I only did for Florence as I would for any other poor girl struggling through life willing to lend a helping hand. The Bible says "They that live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecutions."

HORSE LEADS TO CONVERSION.

From the Atchison (Kas.) Globe.

"H. P." Armstrong's full name is Housen Parr Armstrong. He was named for a strong man his father greatly admired, Housen Parr, who lived over in Missouri. One day Housen Parr went to church and found a horse tied in a stall where he wanted to tie his own horse. Housen Parr hadn't been converted then, so he became mad and pulled the horse out of the stall by the hind legs. That night Housen Parr was converted and shouted so loudly that he was heard a mile.

From the Kansas City Journal.

In six hours a strong young man could go out into the country, climb a tree, thrash off a bushel of pecans, gather them up early 'em to town and sell them for $2.50. But he would call that a day's work and slavery to the corporations. Yet the same man will pay 50 cents to get into a skating rink and mill around half the night like a polled Angus steer in a stockade, and he calls that—having a good time.

REFERRED TO EDITOR BOK.

From the Atchison (Kas.) Globe.

There's one thing we like Edward Bok to tell us. Every day we meet certain women on the streets of Atchison three or four times. Each time we are supposed to take off our hat and bow to them politely. From this continual hat tipping our right arm is becoming larger than it should be; indeed, it has become so large as to threaten to become deformed. What we would like to know, if bowing to them once a day is not enough. We could bow to them in the morning and then be dead on them all day.

GATOR BUSTS IN AT THE BAPTISM.

From the Adams (Ga.) Enterprise.

The old meeting house down by the swamp was the scene of a genuine sensation last meeting day. Whilst Brother Jinkins was baptizin' two old sinners he had been tryin' to coax into the water for twenty years an' more, one of em' while standin' waist deep in the mill pond, was suddenly jerked away as by some unknown force—up fetch he with the surface—big head disappear up it come, fetch bobbin up and down like a cork astonishin'. It soon developed that a collision had been consummated, with the idea of swallerin' him but whilst the gator was tuggin' away at him, he with Brother's shoulder came off, which the gator threw at it, and then gave him alone, no doubt thinkin' that if that was a sample of him—he was too tough for eatin' purposes.

The Spelling Reform

By Andrew Carnegie, LL.D.

From The Independent.

The Independent has many merits which give it value to its readers, and it is to pass into history as a pioneer in improving the spelling of our language, a result which will grow in public estimation with the years as our successive generation looks back and congratulates itself upon what it has escaped. Just as we may congratulate ourselves upon being freed from the trammels of Caxton's, Tyndale's, Spenser's and even Shakespeare's and Johnson's spelling.

It is quite true that language is a growth and that in spite of all our efforts it will continue to improve. But spelling is not language and improvement in spelling never came until a few writers at first rejected in old and adopted a new spelling not can it come in any other way. There must be pioneers.

Spelling reform has this peculiarity—reforms in other departments are usually pressed by those who are not the highest authorities but by innovators knowing and caring less for origins, but feeling more the trammels of existing conditions. The contrary is the case with spelling. The great body of philologists are convinced of the necessity of this reform, and are its most ardent advocates. The more a man knows of our language and of its confusion and anomalies of spelling, the greater a reformer he is. When this movement for reform took definite shape, thirty years ago, its leaders were Professors March, Whitney, Lounsbury, Max Muller and others the highest authorities of their time, men who were soon joined by scholars like Child, Hadley, Barnard, Harris and many others in America and by Skeat, Murray, Sweet and others in England, while the younger generation of scholars concerned in English philology and lexicography seem to be even more zealous for reform. In fact in this matter expert opinion and common sense point in the same direction. Reform must be begun. The class that resists most is that of aged, worthy recluses, who resent disturbance and wish to continue in the old ways to which they are used.

One of the most prominent men gives as his objection that the new spelling would cause the present books to be destroyed and new ones to be printed. There never was the slightest foundation for this fear. New books and new editions will be printed of course as they are now. How else will printers and publishers live? But the present books will continue to be read and used just as now, and a book printed twenty, fifty or a hundred years ago in time the old books that are not worn out will return to the less frequented shelves of our libraries when they will be comfortably read by students interested and left alone by the rest of mankind exactly as is done now.

As for the radical changes which are to make the new books difficult to read all the old books no longer intelligible they are figment of the imagination. The most radical change possible would be the substitution of an absolute phonetic spelling and it is the uniform testimony of competent observers that as phonetic spelling in Roman letters can be read with ease after a few minutes attention by any one familiar with the present spelling. But simplification of the present spelling which means only the removal of its needless exceptions and anomalies is not radical but conservative and it will make reading more easy and not more difficult. If the whole of the 3,000 amended spellings recommended by the philological societies of Great Britain and America were adopted today the difficulty in reading would be seen to be imaginary and the language would become infinitely easier for future generations. Meanwhile not one of our present books need go out of use.

Others have objected to the look of the new words or new letters which they think unsightly. The word thru has become a target. An impartial judge might be excused for finding thru quite as sightly as ough considered merely as to object to look at, the advantage is decidedly with thru. The question that often arises is how can any person bring himself to write the ugly ough when he is quite thru with the word thru when thru is written? What reason can be given for adding three letters that might well be thy as ough so far as the word thru is concerned?

In some cases it is claimed that through and ought show the derivation of the word. There is no necessity for writing or printing superfluous letters in order to show the derivation of a word. The derivation is a matter of history which cannot be obliterated it is on record and all who desire to study it can do so. No one spelling, even the worst, conceals the whole history of the word. It is the main purpose of spelling to show what a word is, not what it was.

A celebrated author has declared "the language of Shakespeare good enough for him." He must have spoken without thinking.

Here are some lines of Shakespeare as spelt in the first edition of his plays:

"My friend suppose a spiritile play—on
With th' [illegible] you shall see it at hand
And bring [illegible] musique to [illegible] the aere
How sweet the moone light sleeps upon this banke
Heere will we sit and let the sounds of musicke
Creepe in our eares soft stunes and the night
Become the touches of sweet harmonia
—Merchant of Venice, Act V.

"Ham.—The Aye. This shrewdly it is very cold.
Hor.—It is a nipping and an eager aire.
Ham.—What hower now?
Hor.—I think it lacks of twelve.
Ham.—No, it is stroke.
Hor.—Indeed I heard it not, then it drawes neere the season
Wherein the Spirit held his wont to walke.
Hamlet.

In these four lines there are twenty six variations from the present prevailing spelling and yet we have not lost the language of Shakespeare.

Simplification of spelling has always been going on. Take the word fish for example. The author of the "Treatyse of Fysshynge wyth an Angle" (1496) spelt the word fysshe. And Caxton and the like, and more earlier writers besides fish had used fishe, fyshe, fisch, fishshe, fissh, fyssche, fisshe, fysch, fiche, fyche, fisse, fiz, fis, fix and a few more varieties. Some one has cited from Coverdale's English version of the Bible (1535) which was printed in Germany these other varieties, fisen, fyszhe, fiszsh besides fysse and fish. Within one generation most of these superabundant spellings were set aside and only four or five varieties were used until at length a generation later only one prevailed—fish. This was simplification. It was effected not by abstract "growth" or "evolution" but by conscious human effort guided by common sense. Some persons began the change others accepted it because it was good.

The reformers who gave us today the simple spelling of fish would, if known, be entitled to and would receive the gratitude of the English-speaking race. They seem to be unknown, but in this movement of today fortunately the records are being kept, and future generations will hold certain names in grateful remembrance, among those The Independent will occupy a conspicuous position in the front rank as pioneer—with President Roosevelt.

The movement promises well, already more than 10,000 persons including many of the best known educators, scholars, scientists, professional and business men agreed to adopt the 300 words. Many newspapers and many business firms have done the same, and the list swells daily. This is sufficient to lead to further steps and insure ultimate success.

Stomach Distress is A Danger Signal

Gas on the stomach, belchings, pains and weakening perspirations resulting shortly after eating are the signs nature provides as storm warnings.

The most general and only cure for such ailments is to promptly cleanse the bowels. If the proper physic is taken, relief is almost immediate, but because the proper physic is not taken, chronic constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia and many other ailments that are directly due to these disorders are set up.

The physics usually taken—salts, pills, tablets, etc., do cleanse the bowels but not quickly and it costs a great loss of strength. The bowels cannot then perform their functions without another physic and continually a stronger drug is required, until a dangerous "pill habit" has been formed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

has a strengthening influence upon the bowels and intestines. It is pleasant to take, does not weaken or gripe, and never establishes the dangerous habit which most other remedies do.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle.

Your money back if it doesn't benefit you.

For Values in Men's Underwear

It's worth your while to visit our men's underwear department. Compare our 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50 qualities with those of the department store. You'll find that we save you fully 25 per cent and show you fabrics that men do not object to wearing. Underwear should be very carefully selected. It should be the kind that is only remembered when put on in the morning and taken off at night. Our underwear department always has been a hobby of ours. We only carry the reliable makes and we show a variety twice as large as any other in the city. Drawers are made up with pearl buttons, well fused, taped seams and reinforced. Cuffs of shirts and bottom of drawers are close fitting. Most anything that is made in men's underwear is to be found with us.

HOLBROOK & PERKINS

MACHINIST SEVERELY BURNED

William Luttermoser Falls in Tank of Hot Water—Leg Badly Scalded.

William Luttermoser, a machinist in the employ of the Miller & Wilson automobile company, while carrying a heavy pump in the engine room of the Alta Vista hotel Monday night, broke through some planking over a hot water vat and scalded his leg from the knee down, causing the skin to peel from the fresh. He was carried to one of the rooms of the hotel where he suffered excruciating pains until Dr. Faust dressed his burns. He will be confined to bed for at least two weeks.

BE CHARITABLE

to your horses as well as to yourself. You need not suffer from pains of any sort—your horses need not suffer. Try a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It cures all pains. J. M. Roberts, Bakersfield, Mo., writes: "I have used your Liniment for ten years and find it to be the best I have ever used for man or beast." Sold by the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

VANDALS WILL BE PUNISHED

Chamber of Commerce Demands Reparation From Parties Guilty of Defacing Scenery.

The Chamber of Commerce, through Secretary Henry Russell Wray, yesterday sent letters to the several members of the party who recently defaced scenery in North Cheyenne canon by printing their names in black paint on a large rock near Rainbow Falls. The letters set forth the fact of the defacement and demand reparation under penalty of legal prosecution.

They were addressed to Mrs. S. B. Daniels, H. C. Harnen, Stella Harnen, Perry Daniels and William Doyle. No addresses accompanied the names on the rock in the canon and the letters were sent to the local postoffice to be forwarded.

STROUD MANAGER OF ALAMO

San Francisco Man Succeeds George Walker, Resigned.

C. E. Stroud, formerly manager of the Hotel St. Francis, San Francisco, was recently appointed manager of the Alamo hotel to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of George Walker. Mr. Stroud was a victim of the San Francisco earthquake, being assistant manager of the St. Francis, which was destroyed by the quake. The St. Francis was the first hotel to resume business after the disaster.

TRICKED BY DYSPEPSIA

The Doctor Couldn't Tell Where The Trouble Lay.

"For the past seven years I have been a victim of dyspepsia and chronic constipation and have consulted the most noted specialists to be found on diseases of this character. None, however, seemed to locate the difficulty or give relief. In addition to this medical treatment, I have resorted to the use of many remedies and have given them faithful trial, but all to no purpose.

"Upon the recommendation of a close friend, I purchased a 50c package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and in less than five days noticed that I was receiving more benefit than from any remedy I had used before. I continued to use the tablets after each meal for one month and by that time my stomach was in a healthy condition, capable of digesting anything which my increasing appetite demanded.

"I have not experienced any return of my former trouble, though three months have elapsed since taking your remedy."

We wish that you could see with your own eyes the countless other bona-fide signed letters from grateful men and women all over the land who had suffered years of agony with dyspepsia, tried every known remedy and consulted eminent specialists without result, until they gave Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial. Like the doctor above, they couldn't locate the seat of the trouble.

Dyspepsia is a disease which has long baffled physicians. So difficult of location is the disease that cures seem next to miraculous. There is only one way to treat dyspepsia: to supply the stomachs which have ceased to perform this function and to cause them to enter the digestive organ, supplying the fluids which they lack. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets alone fill these requirements, as is shown by the fact that 40,000 physicians in the United States and Canada unite in recommending them to their patients for stomach disorders.

We do not claim or expect Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to cure anything but disordered conditions of the stomach and other digestive organs, but this they never fail to do. They work upon the inner lining of the stomach and intestines, stimulate the gastric glands and aid in the secretion of juices necessary to digestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. One box will frequently effect a perfect cure. If in doubt and wish more adequate proof send us your name and address and we will gladly mail you a sample package free. F. A. Stuart [illegible]

CASE WILL BE ARGUED TODAY

Evidence All Submitted in Knight-Marsh Suit—Another Night Session Held.

The suit of E. J. Knight against F. R. Marsh, for an accounting of the proceeds from the sale of the Little Clara lease in Cripple Creek, was continued before Judge J. W. Shafer in the district court yesterday. Another night session was held, the evidence on both sides being in when court adjourned at 9:30 o'clock last night. Arguments will be heard on both sides this morning, and it is expected that the case will be in the hands of the court for a decision some time today. Attorney C. W. Waterman will argue the cause of Knight, while Attorney C. S. Thomas will plead for Marsh.

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

A transcript of the case of the People vs. C. W. Smith, accused of the murder of C. W. Cartwell, on October 10, was filed in the district court yesterday. Smith is in jail pending the action of the district court, having been bound over without bail at a preliminary hearing before Justice O. H. Dunnington.

In the district court yesterday answer was filed by defendant in the $50,000 breach of promise suit of Ida Clarke against J. G. Hiestand. Hiestand attacks the moral character of the plaintiff, and alleges that she was aware of his previous marriage at the time of her relations with him. In a replication filed later in the day by the plaintiff, the latter denies that she knew Hiestand was married, and defends her own character.

Judge J. W. Shafer will go to Fairplay tomorrow, at the request of Judge M. S. Bailey, to hear the application for an injunction sought by the Canon City Elks' club to restrain the city officials of that town from interfering with the sale of liquor by the club.

The case of S. W. Wright, of Manitou charged with selling liquor without a license, was continued until Monday in Justice W. N. Ruby's court yesterday.

A demurrer, alleging that facts sufficient for a cause of action were not stated in the complaint, was filed in the district court yesterday, in the money demand suit of W. H. Swift against Edith Wilson, Thomas Eyster and C. W. Dolph.

EXTRA HOLIDAY IS GRANTED

School Board Decides to Grant Day Following Thanksgiving—Routine Business Transacted.

At a meeting of the school board last night it was decided to grant the Colorado Springs public schools an extra holiday on November 30, the day following Thanksgiving.

Bills to the amount of $2,973.15 were allowed.

The buildings and grounds committee was authorized to contract for a sufficient number of seats to furnish the new school rooms now under construction.

Committees from the Steele and Garfield schools waited on the board and asked for additional playground for the two schools. While recognizing the need for more playground at the Steele and Garfield schools, the board took no action.

Miss Belle Willis was elected to fill the vacancy in the Washington school corps of teachers which was caused by the recent resignation of Miss Mabel Matthews.

The board decided to ask for bids for the construction of a fire escape at the Garfield building.

The Anti-Cigarette league was given permission to use the High school auditorium for the spelling match to be held in the near future under its auspices. This spelling match will take the place of the regular fall track meet given by the league.

The tax levy for the coming year was discussed, but no action was taken.

All members of the board were present.

Personal Mention

C. J. Bauman, proprietor of a large Sixth avenue furniture store in New York, is a visitor to Colorado Springs. He is stopping at the Alamo hotel.

George J. Gould, head of the Gould railway system, and a party of the road's officials, passed through the city on a tour of inspection yesterday at noon in their special, which was on its way to Denver from Pueblo.

E. A. Patterson, the general manager of the Alexandria hotel in Toronto, arrived in Colorado Springs yesterday, coming by auto from Denver. He will remain here a month, as he expressed it, "just to enjoy the Colorado climate and sunshine."

The social science department of the Woman's club will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parish house [illegible]

HARMER IS STILL IN HIDING

In Mountains in West Virginia, Does Not Know Case Against Him Has Been Dropped.

Somewhere in the sparsely-inhabitated mountains of West Virginia, Walter Harmer, formerly local assistant city ticket agent of the Santa Fe road, is in hiding, unaware that no prosecution is intended as a result of his defalcation of several hundred dollars from the Santa Fe office here. The young man recently wrote a letter to his wife, Mrs. Martha Harmer, of this city, to the effect that he is secreted in the mountains of that state.

No information as to my whereabouts can be ascertained from this letter. I am mailing it at a town sixty miles distant from my hiding place."

Harmer, who was well known in this city, disappeared from Colorado Springs last August, leaving his accounts short. He left a letter intimating that he would commit suicide, but it was afterward found that he left the city. His accounts were straightened out by his relatives, but the clerk evidently is unaware that no action is intended by the Santa Fe officials and continues in hiding.

OIL PAINTINGS ON EXHIBITION

Several of Skelton's Pictures of Colorado Scenery in Foltz & Hardy's Window.

A number of original oil paintings from which the recent issue of postal cards bearing pictures of Colorado scenery was made, will be on exhibition in Foltz & Hardy's window today. This series of cards was reproduced from sixteen pictures of Colorado subjects by Leslie Skelton, who loaned them to the Williamson-Haffner Engraving company of Denver for reproduction by the three-color half-tone process.

It was Mr. Skelton's idea in loaning the pictures to give the public postal cards which would best represent the beauties of Colorado. The work on these cards is especially good, and often they are framed, either singly or in groups of three or four. Already two editions of 30,000 each have been issued, and preparations are being made for getting out a third edition.

Mr. Skelton has exhibited in the Paris salon, the Royal academy, the Liverpool Autumn exhibition, the British and Colonial exhibitions in the Royal Institute, London, and many other places. One of his pictures at a recent exhibition at the Royal Academy was mentioned by critics as among the best fifty pictures of the year.

TO WED—J. D. Hilthrand, of this city, and Miss Ethel Hayden, of Windsor, Mo., will be married today at noon at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. F. Jordan, at Windsor. Mr. and Mrs. Hilthrand will made their home in Colorado Springs at 315 East Monument street.

GUARANTEED LIQUOR CURE.

We would not under any circumstances indorse a remedy for the cure of the drink habit until we had absolutely satisfied ourselves that it did all it claimed. Orrine is the only cure for the drink habit that we know of, and the only one that we ever knew of that had enough merit to be sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. It has stood the test of years of use and we know of many whom it has cured of the drink habit.

The guarantee given with each package thoroughly protects the buyer. Orrine is in two forms: No. 1 for secret use and No. 2 for those who wish to be cured. $1.00 a box. Mail orders filled. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C., or the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co.

SHORTAGE IN HAY AND EGGS

Dealers Are Unable to Supply Demand, and Unusually High Prices Prevail.

Because nearly all the hens in and around Colorado Springs have suddenly stopped laying, and from indications, the hens of adjoining states have done the same thing, fresh eggs in the wholesale market are now selling at $9 a case, $2 a case higher than they have ever been before in this city at this season of the year.

Local dealers in eggs said yesterday that they are unable to supply the demand for fresh eggs. No extraordinary conditions exist, the dealers say, to cause the sudden falling off in the egg supply. The hens have just stopped, that is all, said one dealer.

Cold storage eggs are selling for $7.50 per case. These come from the cold storage houses of Denver, Topeka, Kansas City and other of the larger cities in nearby states. These eggs are usually placed in cold storage in the spring. The most of the fresh eggs that are coming into market at present are from Kansas and Nebraska.

Along with the scarcity and high price of eggs, a scarcity of hay is reported. Local dealers admitted yesterday that hay was 25 per cent higher now than it has been for account of the scarcity of the supply. The reason given for the prevailing conditions is that, farmers are stacking their fall looking after other crops and are not feeding the hay for market. Another reason assigned for the shortage of the local supply is that the railroads can not furnish cars to bring the hay from points in Kansas. On account of the prevailing conditions, several large consumers have been looking for hay outside of this and adjoining territory.

The present shortage will be over soon, dealers say, as soon as transportation facilities can be obtained. Hay will sell much cheaper in a short time if these conditions can be overcome, the dealers say.

FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR CURES Coughs and Colds PREVENTS Pneumonia and Consumption

Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold.

There is no danger of Pneumonia, Consumption or other serious lung trouble if Foley's Honey and Tar is taken, as it will cure the most stubborn coughs—the dangerous kind that settle on the lungs and may develop into pneumonia over night.

If you have a cough or cold do not risk pneumonia when Foley's Honey and Tar will cure you quickly and heal your lungs.

Remember the name—Foley's Honey and Tar, and refuse any substitute offered. Do not take chances with an unknown preparation that may disappoint you the same when you can get Foley's Honey and Tar, that costs no more than a dollar and is safe and certain in all lung troubles. Contains no opiates.

Mrs. Anna Phys'sinne Sickles, Mt. Carroll, Ill., writes: "My husband was given up to die with consumption. Through a friend I was induced to try a sample of Foley's Honey and Tar, which gave him such relief that I bought some of the large size. Two or three bottles more of what the physicians called incurable consumption, and I have never had any trouble with my throat or lungs since."

Prices—25c, 50c, $1.00.
The 50 cent size contains two and one half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.

RECOVERY IN STOCKS FIRM TONE IN WHEAT

MONEY IS EASIER AND BUYING IS BRISK.

Pressure From London Is Relieved and Bank of France Loosens Purse Strings—Jump In Sterling Exchange.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The movement towards recovery in prices of stocks which was distinctly initiated in the latter dealings of yesterday made further substantial progress today. The demand was not large and conspicuous movements were restricted to a few stocks which have been favorite in speculation. A disposition to uncover shorts was an obvious factor in their recovery. The light demand was made effective through the falling off in the pressure to sell which was in evidence yesterday by reason of the withdrawal of credits from speculative holders on margin.

There was much less calling of loans today and less difficulty in securing fresh accommodations. It was assumed that this was due, partly to the return to the money market of the amount paid in yesterday on subscriptions to new St. Paul stock, which called for some $12,000,000.

The stock market settlement in London made favorable progress and without further urgent pressure on New York for retirement of stock held in that market. This afforded a sense of relief, although the actual payday for the settlement is fixed for tomorrow. Money and discounts were firmly held in London, but developments pointed unmistakably to effective relief of the tension in that market.

The violent jump in the rate for sterling exchange in Paris of three and one-half centimes, served notice that extensive remittances of capital were being made from that center to the English capital in furtherance of willingness of the bank of France to assist the London money market, expressed in the important statement made by the bank authorities to the Associated Press yesterday. The loosening of the purse strings of the Paris market for the benefit of the London market opens up the most important reserve supply of money at present available to the world's needs and marks a distinct departure from the recent policy of the guardians of that supply.

Foreign financial opinion has been freely expressed that relief measures were called for by the United States treasury in view of the part played by New York's requirement in the present tightness of money. The reiterated refusals of the secretary of the treasury to adopt any immediate measures, which were repeated today were calculated to disappoint expectations of relief by this means, which thus were expected to ease foreign money markets as well as our own.

The appearance of the secretary in Wall Street today gave new circulation to rumors of his intention to adopt relief measures. These rumors had their part in the early strength of the stock market. By the time they were denied the market had the more substantial basis of an easier tone in the money market without the help of treasury measures. There was some disposition to infer that efforts had been made to exaggerate the money stringency yesterday in order to impress the treasury officials with the desirability of relief and that today's relaxation might be due to the abandonment of these efforts.

The course of the money markets seems sufficiently explained by the lack of pressure on account of the London settlement, the reappearance of St. Paul stock subscriptions in the money market, lending of money for out of town banks attracted by the high money rates and a subsidence of the movement of currency to the interior. Reports of settlement of wage disputes on some of the railroads was a help to the market. Some sentimental effect was produced by the reports of agreement of Washington on a plan amongst the advocates of a law permitting emergency bank note issues. The special strength of St. Paul found no explanation in any news behind dividend rumors of rights of subscription to further stock issues. The opening money rate at fourteen per cent proved to be the highest of the day. With the decline in the rate stocks advanced gradually, but quite steadily.

Bonds were steady. Total sales par value $1,830,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

SMALL RECEIPTS GIVE THE BULLS A BOOST.

Frost in Argentina Is a Strengthening Factor—Corn and Oats Follow Suit and Provisions Close Firm.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Opening with a firm undertone, the wheat market steadily gained in strength throughout the day and closed very strong with prices at the highest point of the day. Shorts and commission houses were active bidders for wheat, but there was no particular selling pressure, the bulk of offerings coming from local longs. The main source of strength was an advance of 1c and one-half cents in the price of wheat at Minneapolis which it was claimed was due to the continued small receipts of spring wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth. Firm cables and a report of frost in Argentina were minor influences that strengthened the local market. An increase of 4,000,000 bushel in world's visible supply compared with an increase of only 1,000,000 bushels for the corresponding time last year had apparently no effect on prices. December opened unchanged to a shade higher at 72 3-8 @ 3-4 to 72 3-4, advanced to 74 1-8 and closed at 74 1-8.

Primary receipts were 1,233,000 bushel against 1,430,000 for the corresponding day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts 982 cars against a holiday last week and 1,357 cars a year ago.

The corn market exhibited some weakness early in the day because of selling by a leading cash house, but rallied later in sympathy with wheat and closed at the highest point of the day. Trading was quiet in the first half of the session, but became more active following the sharp upturn in wheat. Shorts and commission houses were the principal buyers. December opened unchanged to 1-8 lower at 41 7-8 to 42, sold off to 41 3-4 @ 7-8 and closed at 42 1-4.

Oats were in fairly active demand by commission houses and local bulls and the market ruled firm all day. Weather in the northwest was unfavorable for the crop movement and receipts in that section continued small. December opened unchanged at 34 1-4, advanced to 34 1-2 a 5-8 and closed at the top price.

Provisions were somewhat easier at the opening because of a five-cent decline in the prices of live hogs, but later the market rallied and closed firm. The advance was caused by buying of all products by shorts and local packers. The strength of wheat was a bullish factor.

At the close January pork up 10 at $14.15. Lard was up 2 1-2 @ 5 at $8.40 @ $8.42 1-2. Ribs were up 2 1-2 @ 7 1-2 higher at $7.60 @ $7.62 1-2.

GRANITE SHUTS DOWN PUMPS

Refuses to Assist Longer in Draining Other Property Without Compensation.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 13.—At 6 o'clock Monday morning the Granite mine shut down its pumps and the water will be allowed to rise in the shaft from the 1,200-foot level to the tenth level. It is understood that the Granite was draining the lower three levels of the Strong, Portland, Ajax and Independence, and that these mines refusing to defray half of the expense the Granite company allowed its pumps to be drowned out.

According to report, the Portland company had decided to commence sinking its main No. 1 shaft from the 1,200 foot point to a depth of 1,400 feet, but, owing to the fact that the Granite stopped pumping this work could not be started.

BEN HARRISON WILL BE SOLD

Deal for $125,000 to Be Consummated Between Pennsylvania Parties and J. A. Hayes.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 13.—The Trilby and Ben Harrison lode claims, on Bull hill, owned by the Moose Gold Mining company, will be transferred to Messrs. L. F. Mearkle, F. Montgomery and J. C. Corning of Pennsylvania tomorrow in Colorado Springs by J. B. Glasser, vice president of the Moose company. The consideration is not known, but is presumed to be about $125,000.

A deal was started between the three Pennsylvanians and J. A. Hayes in Colorado Springs about two weeks ago, but terms could not be agreed upon. Mearkle, Montgomery and company returned to their home and later visited J. F. Maynard of Utica, N. Y., who is the principal owner, and a deal was made. All that now remains is for Mr. Glasser to sign certain papers, which will be done Wednesday.

The new owners will at once put the property in shape and begin extensive and active operations. One of the plans certain to be carried out is the erecting of a new and up-to-date 100-ton daily capacity cyanide mill on the south end of the Trilby claim to treat the large quantity of low grade ore which is known to exist in the mine.

INSTALL COMPRESSORS

THREE COMPANIES PUT IN NEW MACHINERY.

Bull Hill Mining and Development, the Golden Cycle and the El Paso Companies Improve Plant.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 13.—Superintendent Richard Roelofs of the Bull Hill Mining and Development company, operating on the Cresson property, on Raven hill, is installing today a new electric ten-drill air compressor. This lease is producing monthly from 1,500 to 2,000 tons of ore of an average grade of one ounce. The ore is being mined from an immense deposit fifty and sixty feet wide at a depth of 600 and 700 feet. The shaft was recently sunk to the 800-foot level, where, while cutting a station, a low grade oxidized ore body twenty-five feet wide was encountered. Mr. Roelofs has paid no attention to this parallel low grade ore shoot, but is now driving for the main ore body, some 200 feet east of the shaft.

The Golden Cycle mine, which enjoys the honor of being the second heaviest producer in the Cripple Creek camp, installed a thirty-drill air compressor Saturday and yesterday increased the number of machine men, who will confine their operations principally to the eleventh and twelfth levels.

The El Paso Consolidated company, owning a very rich acreage on the west slope of Beacon hill, has also installed a new electric thirty-five-drill compressor. This company is not able to operate below the 600-foot level on account of water. The water is being discharged from the mine through the El Paso tunnel at the rate of 3,500 gallons per minute, which shows a slight decrease. The new compressor will be able for some time to amply supply all the air necessary to the El Paso mine, as well as the leasees and other adjacent properties.

MANY COMPANIES ARE ACTIVE

Shipments of Ore in Car Lots Are Numerous.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 13.—Among a few of the mines and leases shipping out carload lots of ore yesterday and today were: The Standard Mining and Leasing company, operating on the South Burns of the Acacia; Knight, Hodges and Marsh, on the Little Clara of the Work company, sent out three cars; Brass and Clifford, on the Lady Stith of the Stratton estate, one car; Smith and Altman, from the Doctor-Jack Pot, one car; Simonton and company a car from the Old Gold; two cars from the El Paso Gold King; Starkweather and company, a car from the Zenobia; the lessees on the Gold Dollar tunnel, the Little Max, the Prince Albert, W. P. H., Specimen, La Bella, Logan and others.

SECURE A LEASE ON ROB ROY

John Wilkinson Starts Work on the Property.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 13.—John Wilkinson and associates have secured a lease on the Rob Roy claim on Gold hill belonging to the Fair Chance company. All of the property owned by the Fair Chance company is under a long lease to J. H. Kellogg, who is subleasing. Wilkinson and associates have already started to work in the short tunnel, where about a year ago some fine ore was mined. This property is in an excellent neighborhood and the prospects are quite flattering.

HAS HIGH GRADE ORE READY

Cleanup in Wild Horse Gives Big Results.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 13.—Thomas Reynolds, an old-time miner of this camp, who has a lease on the Wild Horse mine on Bull hill, has been cleaning up the stopes and has five tons of ore sacked running 25 ounces to the ton.

COMPANY MAKES RICH STRIKE

Beacon Hill Company Said to Have Opened Rich Ore.

It was rumored in local mining circles yesterday that the Beacon Hill Development company, leasing on the Gold Dollar and Zoe properties in the Cripple Creek district, has made a rich strike. Further details are not known, but it is understood that the values run several hundred dollars per ton. This company also has a good body of ore, about 350 feet long, on the eighth level. Assay values indicate that it will ship about $40 per ton.

A Simple Pleasant and Perfect Cure for Catarrh

Have You Catarrh, Asthma or Hay Fever?

Are you Subject to Cold in the Head?

Catarrh begins with an inflammation of the lining (the mucous membrane) of the nasal passages, forming an offensive and corrosive virus. This virus is a poison which can be counteracted. But if it is permitted to run, the inflammation becomes a deep-seated (sometimes a small) sore, which sloughs away the lining of the nasal passages, poisoning the blood, eating into the cartilage and the bone, dropping down into the throat and bronchial tubes, carrying with it all the while the seeds of disease, which develop into Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and Consumption. In the meantime it spreads through the passages of the head, causing deafness and affecting the eye sight, and often destroying the sense of smell entirely.

Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly cures, because it kills the virus germs. It serves first as a covering and emulsion for the affected mucous membrane and in a short time cures completely.

This explains why Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly is an instant relief and why it is a sure cure in any case of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Hay Fever, Cold in the Head, etc.

Sold By 30,000 Druggists Everywhere.

If you are offered a substitute, don't take it, but send to us for a sample. There is no substitute for Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly.

A regular sized tube for 50c. The sample we send free. Your name on a postal will bring it.

Now at Its Best

The annual Thanksgiving linen sale. There are thousands of dollars' worth of beautiful snowy linens direct from the bleachfield of Ireland represented in the sale.

Towels, crashes, table damask, napkins, table sets, etc. The savings during this sale should appeal to every thrifty housewife.

The first two days of the sale were busy ones. We're trying to make today as big. Will you be here?

Greetings

I take this seasonable opportunity to inform you that I have secured a cake baker, who is qualified to turn out goods of the finest quality that can possibly be made. INDIVIDUAL ORDERS GIVEN SPECIAL ATTENTION. MY HOME MADE BREAD has no equal in the city. SIX-FIVE-CENT LOAVES FOR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. Beginning Thursday morning we will have for sale in the store HOT MORNING ROLLS. Orders left the evening before will be delivered by 7:30 a. m. in time for breakfast.

Why not patronize a live place of business where you can buy goods that cannot be surpassed in this city.
